

CIT CSM Student DANIEL BEUSTER Wins 8th Annual Undergraduate Musicology Competition

The 8th Annual Undergraduate Musicology Competition, sponsored by CHMHE (the Council of Heads of Music in Higher Education), has been won by a CIT Cork School of Music student, Daniel Beuster, for a thesis supervised by Roisín Maher of the Department of Musicianship & Academic Studies. The thesis was 'A study of Arvo Pärt's approach to setting text to music with reference to three diverse works: The Deer's Cry, Nunc Dimittis and Dopo la Vittoria.' CHMHE was established in 1993 and represents 15 Music Departments in the 32 counties.

Daniel graduated with a 1st Class Honours BMus Degree in June 2014.

As part of his CHMHE prize, Daniel was invited to read a paper at the Society for Musicology in Ireland's 8th Postgraduate Conference held at Ulster University's Magee Campus in Northern Ireland.
